This is in response to Applicants' preliminary amendment filed October 27, 2003.

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

The title of the invention has been changed to: "Photoelectric switch device having detection result indicators".

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art fails to teach a photoelectric switch device for detecting a presence or an absence of an object in a specified field of detection, among other features, comprising: a transparent window panel disposed in a rear wall of a rectangular parallelepiped box casing; a display board disposed behind the window panel; a display means and adjusting switch means disposed on the display board; manually operable switch means disposed on the rear wall; a first circuit board disposed behind the display board; and a second circuit board with an excitation circuit printed thereon disposed behind the display board.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

I) Marion et al 3,838,291 disclose a detection system with detector indicating availability.
